SNAKE SEEKS NEST

MEMBERS OF BIRD AND FLOWER CLUB SAVE ORIOLES FROM THE REPTILE

The fifth meeting of the Bird and Flower club took place yesterday when a trip which turned out to be most exciting was made to La Ramada and district. Fifteen children and four adults assembled at Headquarters at 2 o'clock—when roll was called; taking the street car at Brand and Broadway the party proceeded to La Ramada, and walked through the pretty little park, noticing the flowers, trees and shrubs as they passed, calling out the names of the plants with enthusiasm. At the extreme end of N. Louise street, right up on the hillside, where tall eucalyptus trees afford a pleasant shade, the members sat down in a jolly circle to rest and to listen to the reading of the various letters handed in by the children. The writing of these letters is by no means a condition of membership; it is a purely voluntary act. But most of the children love to write these descriptions of each previous trip, and every child listens to the reading of them with great interest. The writers' names are not mentioned before reading and the children themselves decide which letters are the best. For those describing the visit to the Towers' home, the following were awarded honor buttons: Agnes Thaxter, Grace Tower, Dorothy Head and Dorothy Sherman. For descriptions of the trip to Exposition Park the following received honor buttons: Agnes Thaxter, Robert Tower, Dorothy Sherman, Eugene Kille. For being the first child to spy a bird's nest, Kathleen Woods was given an honor button.

After this the children enjoyed climbing the foothill, the boys of course being the most adventuresome. Roger Ward and Gordon Richardson returned in triumph, bearing a huge yucca or Spanish bayonet, which when growing had stood 15 feet high. Joy Willisford, the smallest member. gathered a huge bouquet of wildflowers, and Doris Packer also came back with beautiful mountain blossoms. But Dorothy Sherman discovered the thrill' episode of the afternoon. Dorothy had noticed unusual chattering of orioles in a palm tree just below the spot designated as headquarters for the club. Returning earlier than the others from climbing the hills, she set herself to investigate the reason of the birds' outcry which increased as time went on. The father oriole was flying about in great distress.

DEATH OF MARY E. SHIVELY

Mary E. Shively, daughter of Edward Shively, 319 Orange street, died Wednesday at 10 p. m. at Littlelands, where she had been visiting. Miss Shively had been in poor health for some time past and it was hoped the mountain air would do her good. She was 20 years of age. She had many friends and acquaintances in Glendale, where she attended the schools. Funeral services will be held in the Pulliam Undertaking parlors, Saturday, at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Grand View cemetery.

VOLUNTEERS ELECT OFFICERS

The Glendale Volunteers met Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the drill hall, at the corner of First and Glendale, for their weekly drill. There was a good attendance. After squad drill under the charge of various officers company was formed and company drill was practised under the direction of Captain Johnson. The company was then put in charge of E. M. Polley who directed the setting-up exercises. At the close of drill the company proceeded to elect a first lieutenant and second lieutenant. The result of the vote was that W. D. Nicoles was elected first lieutenant and J. V. Griffin second lieutenant. Captain Johnson then appointed E. M. Polley sergeant. The company will meet for drill again Friday, at the Tropico school grounds.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO

W. C. BRADLEY RETURNS FROM THE MUCH DISTRESSED REPUBLIC

W. C. Bradley, 1617 Oak street, returned this week from Mexico, where he has resided during several years past. For a long time he was in connection with the Mexican Central railroad, but after the railroads of Mexico were nationalized he in common with other Americans was obliged to resign. There have been no Americans in the employment of the Mexican national railways for two years past.

Mr. Bradley says that President Wilson has made it so plain to Americans that the present American government will not support them in their rights as American citizens while in Mexico that even the most sanguine are now coming out of that country. Americans who for the better part of their lives have lived in peace and amity with the Mexicans are now convinced that even their past relations can be no protection to them under present conditions. They are therefore hastening out of the southern republic.

It is authoritatively stated now, according to Mr. Bradley, that the Carranza government has decided to take all Americans who persist in remaining in Mexico after this emphatic warning given by President Wilson and to place them in concentration camps. A great many of the Americans who were aware of this decision knew that that would mean death to them, as a Mexican concentration camp would be attended by all the neglect and discomfort that characterized the Spanish concentration camps in Cuba and would probably be worse. They therefore got out of the country and the past week has seen the arrival in the United States of numbers of men, women and children who were determined to escape this danger.

"I have lived so many years with the Mexicans," said Mr. Bradley, "that I have come to look on them as friends. They are naturally kindly and courteous. Until the revolution began there was no more pleasant country in which to live. Mexico City is a most beautiful place and has one of the finest climates in the world. During the Huerta-Diaz fight against Madero some damage was done to the houses in certain quarters, but that has been all repaired. The American club had a few shots through its walls. So had the American Y. M. C. A. and some private American houses. , These have all been repaired.

"Personally I have experienced little but kindness on the part of the Mexicans. I have been arrested several times by Zapitistas, Villistas and Carranzistas, but invariably when they learned who I was I was accorded most courteous treatment and released at once. These things are inevitable in civil war.

"The worst condition in Mexico is the shortage in food. The people are starving. There has not been sown more than 28 per cent of the normal acreage of the country. The cattle have been killed by the different armies; mules and oxen have been taken for military purposes; horses have been commandeered everywhere. There are but few draft animals for the farms. It can be imagined how badly off the people are.

"I hope to go back to Mexico. I was in charge of a large ranch in the State of Guanajuato. This ranch produced 10,000 bushels of wheat and 30,000 of corn annually; but I had to leave that and other business standing and come out. I hope conditions will improve soon as I am anxious to resume my work in Mexico."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIAL

The Christian Endeavor society of the Glendale Presbyterian church held a very enjoyable as well as profitable business meeting Tuesday evening in the church parlors. A large number was in attendance. The Endeavorers are very glad to welcome home one of their own members, Miss Jennie Horsch, who has just returned from a most splendid missionary conference in New York city. A most pleasing report was given by the young lady of her adventures in New York and other Eastern cities. After dismissal of business a hearty reception was tendered Miss Horsch, the remainder of the evening being spent in games and music. Much credit is due the social committee for the delicious refreshments which they served. Everyone reported a pleasant evening.

REPAIR OF TIRES

CONRAD VULCANIZING SYSTEM IS YOUNG THRIVING LOCAL INDUSTRY

About three months ago the Conrad Vulcanizing company started in business in Glendale, at 822 West Broadway. F. A. Conrad, the proprietor, has been agreeably surprised at the results accomplished during that period. "Glendale," says Mr. Conrad, "is an ideal spot for a business of this nature. This is a very active automobile center and now that people realize that a vulcanized patch in a tire can add from one-third to one-half to the life of the tire they are just as eager to get their tires vulcanized as others are to have their shoes half-soled.

"We do all kinds of repair work on tires and have the exclusive agency for Norwalk tires and tubes. We also handle Firestone tires; but our growing business is that of vulcanizing. You can see how good a job can be done by the special machinery we have. These vulcanized patches run evenly and smoothly with the old fabric.

"We also do inside patching. That is a specialty as far as Glendale is concerned. This inside patching and mending is a great thing for the tire. It prevents the gradual disintegration of the tire fabric which inevitably results after a tire has been vulcanized four times or so. In this case only the spot affected is treated and the life of the tire is thus greatly prolonged. We have the only special machinery for this purpose in Glendale. In fact we have the only complete outfit in the city for all manner of tire vulcanizing work.

"This plant enables us to do all kinds of repair work. We make a specialty of retreading. Look at these specimens of work of this kind. These tires look as good as new.

"In the tire business the makers set 5000 miles as the limit of life for a tire. That is all they will guarantee. As a matter of fact most tires live through 8000 miles. After vulcanizing they are good for at least 2000 miles more and oftener they last out 4000 miles.

"The war has had no effect whatever, or at least no appreciable effect on the tire industry. The rubber seems to have maintained a pretty even price in spite of the demand in Europe for that commodity. Tires have gone up and down in price, but on the whole there has been little difference. It is also worth noticing that the prices for vulcanizing and for new tires are just the same in Glendale as in Los Angeles.

"We use nothing but the best material and the material we put into the tire when vulcanizing it is equal to what is there before. We also give the very best service possible. We are always willing to make good and give a guaranty as far as our work is concerned for the life of the tire. As a result of our methods of business our trade has doubled within the three months we have been in business.

"Our machinery is the best that can be obtained. We use the Williams Vulcanizer, the most expensive and most effective outfit that is manufactured. In this way we are not afraid to guarantee our work and to stand by it. I expect to see a still further growth in the business here as soon as people learn from each other that the work is all right."

LIGHT NOT UNDER BUSHEL

There are business concerns in Glendale that seem to pride themselves in keeping from the public all bargains that might bring to their stores more patrons; in other words they seem to keep their light under a bushel. H. H. Faries, proprietor of the Men's Shop, is proving himself an exception in this particular as he from time to time avails himself of the excellent publicity that it is possible to obtain in the Glendale Evening News. He not only announces to the public that he is in business but he lets the brilliancy of his light shine forth to a still greater extent by quoting prices that attract the best buyers in Glendale, who wish to purchase gents' furnishing goods.

Today is one of the days that his light is not under a bushel, his announcement appearing on another page in this issue. The motto of every merchant should be, "Let your light shine through the columns of the Glendale Evening News."

TRADE WAR TO FOLLOW WAR

If peace has her victories more renowned than war the world is going to see some of these victories in the way of trade according to the opinions of leading Britons. Germany having challenged the world, say these prophets, is going to have penalties placed on her that will be extremely severe. One of the London critics of the mercantile side of the war says, "Germany will have to pay a high price for her temerity in challenging the other countries in a cutthroat attempt to kill their trade or absorb it or even to absorb the countries themselves. England will inevitably cease to be a free trade country after the war. Reciprocity will prevail between the mother country and her colonies. It will include all the present allies of Britain."

Naturally the purpose of this tariff will be, in part, revenue. In particular it will be directed against Germany in order to protect British trade. It is not likely, says another British authority, that the sight will be seen any more of a flock of German tradesmen with prospective viceroyalties in their pockets working like beavers in the British colonies for the undermining of British power while accepting British hospitality.

"It is not likely," says another authority, Andrew Weir, a London merchant of fabulous wealth, "that Germany will be permitted to trade with England and the British colonies for ten years after the terms of peace are agreed on." It seems likely that when the Allies recently held their famous conference in Paris this subject was fully discussed. There seems no doubt that the British will abandon their traditional free trade principles and will seek in protection against Germany, Austria, and Bulgaria and Turkey, if that country should remain a nation after the war, the relegating of the Teutonic countries back to the secondary position they occupied before they took advantage of free trade to fill their coffers.

As far as the neutral countries are concerned, however, it is likely that some restriction will be made on the products of those countries which might be manufactured by Germans, who would undoubtedly establish factories in neutral countries as they have done in the United States. In the light of this knowledge it is not difficult to understand the meaning of the recent blacklisting of German firms in the United States.

It is stated that at the great Allied conference in Paris startling revelations were made of the plans of Germany regarding the attempt to get command of the seas and the ousting of Great Britain, France and even her own ally Italy from the carrying trade of the world. It was shown that Germany intended whenever the command of the world had been obtained to shut up the trade of the world against all other countries except on such terms as would have made them vassals of the Teutons.

Their plan having failed they are to find the same measure meted out to themselves as they desired and intended to measure for others. This subject is occupying the attention of the expert economists of the Allies at this time and it is in an attempt to show the Allies what may be done that the super-submarine Deutschland was sent over to the United States. As a matter of fact this country will be compelled to adopt some measure of self-defense in this domain of commerce before long as the Allies if triumphant will compel othr countries to trade with them on their terms. Free trade is apparently going into the discard.

ITALY'S RAGE AGAINST AUSTRIA

Austria, the most unfortunate of imperial countries, followed ever by the ghastly bad luck of the ruling Hapsburgs, has again blundered as in the days of old. This time with true Austrian lack of perspective it has roused to fervent passion the heart of the Italian nation by its uncalled-for and illegal execution of Caesare Battisti, a former deputy from the Trentino in the Austrian reichsrath.

Battisti, who was born of Italian parents in the Trentino, enlisted in the Italian army at the beginning of the war and fought throughout until the other day when he was taken prisoner. According to Austrian custom and law Battisti was an Italian and should have been considered as such, having been born in the irredenta province of Italian parents. The Austrian military despots, however, thought otherwise and counted Battisti as an Austrian. They gave him a drumhead courtmartial and shot him as a traitor.

This act has roused all Italy. The descendants of Gessler the tyrant of Switzerland, whose roused that nation by his acts of gratuitous brutality have not learned anything since that day. The acts that aroused the fighting spirit of Switzerland are now stirring the deeper heart of the Italians and leading them to vow a vengeance that will be deep and bloody on the cruel oppressors of their countrymen in the irredenta provinces.

The death of Battisti is only one of a series of such acts that have been perpetrated always after the Italians have gained any victory over the Austrians. Recent events have so driven into the heads of the Austrians the fact that Italy is a powerful nation and that before the war is over the objective with which the Italians set out may be won that they are almost in a frenzy and are manifesting their anger in such acts as the judicial murder of Battisti. It is likely that the Italians with this fresh proof of the savage spirit of the Austrian before their eyes will not hesitate to prosecute the war to its bitter end.

The best writers of the nation are unanimous on the question. They say that the curse on the Hapsburg family is always coming home to the family that the nation has harbored to its immense loss. The present reigning family of Austria has been characterized by a succession of tragic events that have marked it out as peculiar among the royal families of Europe. With the union of the Hapsburgs and the royal family of France began the era of the downfall of the royalty of that nation, culminating in the guillotining of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette of Austria, the woman who couldn't learn the lesson of moderate monarchy.

Italy hopes that the civilized world will not condone the act of the Italians; but nations forget just as individuals do and poor Battisti's blood may do no more than call down Italian vengeance on unfortunate people who had nothing to do with his execution. It is, however, such acts of tyranny that may be trusted to bring on the era of true democracy in Europe. One would think the world would be very tired of the old sanguinary monarchies of the continent by this time. Yet it cannot be forgotten that France for 400 years endured the greatest oppression a nation ever endured until at length it was swept away in the blood of the revolution.

ATTITUDE OF CITY PAPERS

Glendale being close to Los Angeles is of course in touch with social, business and civic affairs of that city. The consequence is that Glendale people feel interested in the doings of their big sister city, and there is from one to three city papers going into each Glendale home, probably making a total of $60,000 a year that is paid for Los Angeles papers. The owners of the city papers do not count so much on the dollars and cents received for subscription as a large percentage of that goes for the payment of premiums, carrier boys and newspaper stock. But they do count greatly upon the large list of Glendale subscribers bringing them additional advertising from the city merchants. So taking all things into consideration the Glendale community is an excellent newspaper field for the city papers.

What is the Glendale community getting from the city papers for the $60,000 paid to them yearly and for the excellent advertising field given to them on account of the large subscription list? Absolutely nothing more than the general news matter, and that may be obtained from hundreds of papers published throughout Southern California. The Glendale community gets very little favorable publicity through any of the Los Angeles papers. If there is a murder committed in the hills near Glendale, the community then gets a first page sensational article; if a young man forges a check and lands in jail a special reporter is sent out to learn the particulars. If there is a minister who fails to please all members of his congregation, the affair is given unlimited publicity; if there is any contention in municipal or school affairs the city papers stand ready to herald the unfavorable news to the world. In short, if there is anything of a character damaging to the city's interests, the Los Angeles papers stand ready to make it known. If a man does an honorable act in aiding the poor and needy, supporting the churches and other worthy causes, the city paper has no space to make favorable mention of such a man. If a boy graduates with high honors from the schools and makes an enviable record as an intelligent, industrious young man he goes unnoticed by the city papers. If municipal affairs are running in perfect harmony and the schools classed as the best in Southern California the city papers turn a deaf ear to these important facts. If a local minister is leading his flock in the paths of peace and building up a strong church he receives no favorable mention in the city paper. The city papers publish the kind of news that makes trouble for Glendale and not peace.

At present Glendale has a candidate for supervisor who is receiving almost the unanimous support of the Glendale community and who can point to expressions of kindness this candidate is receiving from city papers? So it is in all particulars pertaining to Glendale, the city papers use the people of the community merely as servants who are expected to bow to their dictates and obey their every command.

By training his trees on wires, Dr. E. M. Wilder, of Sacramento, California, has a good-sized and yet an odd orchard in his back yard. The trees are allowed to grow about eight inches wide while their lateral growth is not restricted. Some of these are so budded as to be in bloom and in fruit at the same time.

The name "hen hawk" is a misnomer; for the so-called hen hawks seldom slay small birds and chickens, but are inveterate rodent hunters. The true hen hawks, Cooper's hawk and the sharp-shinned hawk, are much smaller and bolder. They will catch chickens right before one. The sparrow hawk is another bird that seldom attacks the members of the feathered family as his name might indicate.

WITH A SMILE

The work of life goes sweeter if you do it with a smile;
The burden's always lighter if you lift it with a smile.
The sunny way and cheery
Is the way that seems the best
If you follow it, my dearie,
With a true love in your breast.

The care of life is lessened if you face it with a smile;
The tasks of life are brightened if you light them with a smile.
Oh, give good-by to sorrow
And be glad your heart is strong
For the sunlight of tomorrow
And the beauty of the song.

The road of life is better if you journey with a smile;
The hills of life are smoother if you climb them with a smile.
There's always sun and blossom
When the heart is smiling sweet
At the clouds that drape the heavens
And the stones that bruise the feet.

MUSICALE LUNCHEON

Mrs. Franklin, Sr., mother of Mr. Blake Franklin of 1498 W. Third street, and Mrs. Head, Mrs. Franklin's sister, of Lawton, Okla., who have been visitors at the Franklin home for some weeks, were entertained at luncheon Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke and Mrs. A. R. Chappell, at the Van Dyke residence, 1430 W. Third St. The affair was a unique combination of musicale and luncheon.

Mrs. Abell entertained the company with two piano pieces of great merit. Miss Bessie Provolt also gave a most pleasing piano interpretation of piano music of a high classical order. Mrs. Head, who is an accomplished vocalist as well as the possessor of a fine voice, sang four solos. Mrs. H. H. Faries played and sang with great taste and skill. Mrs. Rochester also sang and Mrs. E. H. Willisford gave two readings with much dramatic force and power.

The company then enjoyed a musical game and other amusements. The color scheme throughout the rooms was pink and white. Pink carnations adorned the four tables, at which luncheon was served and the color scheme was carried out in candies, ice cream, nut baskets and other appointments.

The following guests were at the different tables:

Table No. 1—Mrs. Franklin, Sr., Mrs. Head, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mrs. Mabel Ocker, Mrs. Rochester, Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Faries, Miss Rosemary Button, Mrs. Van Dyke, Sr., Mrs. A. R. Chappell.

AN ABLE ACTRESS

The Columbia City, Indiana, press has the following to say of Miss Emma Lee Weiler, who will appear at Butler's hall Friday evening under the auspices of the First Methodist church:

"This was Miss Weiler's first appearance before a Columbia City audience and from the very first of the recital she captivated her hearers and held them spellbound to the very end. Miss Weiler is naturally talented, with pathos, humor, tenderness and wit each following in quick succession. She won the admiration of her audience and held it with unlimited interest to the end—her rendition of this difficult recital stamps her as an actress of splendid ability—"

DO "DUNKARDS" DISCARD AUTOMOBILES?

Editor News:

There appeared in the public press a few days ago an article stating that the "Dunkards" (should be Dunkers) had, at their recent conference, decided that it is wrong for their members to use automobiles. This is partly true and partly erroneous. In 1881 a few hundred members of the then German Baptists seceded from the main body on account of their opposition to Sunday Schools, Missions, series of revivals, etc., and organized under the name of "Old Order German Baptist." They held their conference in Fairview, Mo., this year and it was this body, with a membership of perhaps 3,000, who declared against the use of the automobile. The main body with headquarters in Elgin, Ill., numbers about 100,000; they have missions in Asia, Europe, and in nearly all parts of the U. S. They have ten colleges, a large publishing house, educational board, general mission board and a number of other inside organizations to carry on their works. The "Old Order" have none of these.

The Church of the Brethren is the legal name. The membership which meets each Sunday at Park and Glendale avenues, Tropico, are a part of the General Body. "Dunkard" is the nickname and Church of the Brethren is their proper name.

M. M. ESHELMAN,

So Dorothy stood and watched and watched.

Then she suddenly found the cause. A big snake was in the tree, wending its slow but determined way to the nest where the frantic little mother was endeavoring to safeguard her precious family. Excitedly Dorothy called to Mrs. Woods to come. There surely lay the snake along the midrib of a palm leaf, its head sticking out in full view, its long body casting a shadow on the under side of the leaf. Roger Ward and Gordon Richardson, who had just appeared with their yucca, ran to the rescue, and all threw stones to dislodge the snake. The first stone caused the father oriole to fly away. One stone accidentally hitting the nest, the mother also flew away. Finally the snake fell to the ground; it measured about 3 feet and was a very handsome king snake, its skin beautifully marked. The boys soon despatched it, and ultimately carried home the body to preserve the skin. After this, a boy was given permission to climb the palm tree, which was very tall, and observe the inmates of the nest. He reported one bird only, and as he called out his observations, the birdie, who was perched on the edge of the nest, fell out. The dear little thing was carefully picked up, but how was it to be put back in the nest? So three more boys climbed up the trunk of the palm in relays, one above the other, and a girl standing directly below the bird was handed from one to the other until it reached the topmost boy who placed it in the nest. The excitement being over, and the shrieks of the girls on beholding the dead snake having subsided, all retired to a distance and watched to see whether the parent birds would venture to return. After a while, the mother flew cautiously to a distant tree, then nearer, and nearer, until finally she reached the nest in safety.

To record the remaining joys of this eventful afternoon would be to tax the generosity of the editor of the Glendale News. Ice cream in La Ramada park, five birds' nests discovered in one palm tree, two deserted nests taken down by permission of the adults, new friends made—we must leave the telling of all that to some other time.

Mrs. W. W. Hall, Mrs. H. C. Ackley, Mrs. Nanno Woods and Mrs. F. W. Kille, accompanied the young people on this delightful trip.—Nanno Woods, President.

YOUR SYSTEM NEEDS IRON

In order to be healthy we need an abundance of "good red blood," and in order to have this, we must see to it that we supply our bodies with iron, for iron as we know, is a necessary constituent of the red corpuscles of the blood. The numerous experiments which have been made indicate rather clearly that the bulk of this iron should be supplied by the food, rather than by medicines. The latter, it appears, is of use chiefly when taken in conjunction with a diet rich in iron. For our supply of iron, then, we must look to our food and not to medicines and mineral waters.

LITTLELANDS

Agitation Versus Success

Editor Tri-City Progress:

The writer noted with interest the article subscribed by our esteemed neighbor, Mr. Heffleman, "Regarding Town Name," and beg leave to answer same through your columns. As a resident of Littlelands I am not alone in my wish for a change in name, realizing of course that the present name alone has been more than sufficient to greatly retard our progress.

We all appreciate the fact that we have splendid assets to offer residence seekers of means: Viz.: Scenery comparing favorably with the grandeur of the famous Columbia river and plateaus of the Ozarks, splendid water, good altitude, good roads, a short distance from one of America's greatest but fair priced mercantile centers; and in fact many other points of vantage.

The same residence seekers, like those of us who now live here, prefer to be known as residents of a prosperous, well named community. While we thoroughly appreciate the traditional and historical name of Tujunga no doubt our neighbor, as most of us, will appreciate the fact that this community cannot thrive on tradition alone.

As a matter of fact, the writer is convinced that some well defined industrial development, which no doubt could be operated at a nominal expense and made to compete with certain articles marketed by concerns operating under heavy overhead charges would certainly not be amiss, because of the employment it might furnish to those now here who have pioneered and have met with failure insofar as the original plan of operations are concerned; yet who have their all invested and wish to stay for "Better Days" which we believe can be made to come.

If it be true that some industrial development is our salvation, then most assuredly the name, selected by an overwhelming majority at our recent town meeting, where every one had an opportunity to have a voice, is superior for stationery and necessary advertising owing to its more simple spelling and pronunciation. The mere fact of the selection not being unanimous is proof of disappointment to some few. However, let the minority be governed by the same rule of ballot that compels us to live under political regime foreign to our party affiliations.

Let us all be satisfied and turn our attention to improvement and development lest we unconsciously "Barricade our own front door."

O. C. DUNN.

Time to "Right About Face"

It is inconceivable to the writer that a community of intelligent people would allow themselves to drift into that state of mind which causes them to oppose nearly every plan inaugurated by the founder of the village, whose aim has been to bring in new residents, to increase values by activity in real estate transfers, to center the attention of Southern California on this vicinity by his efforts in having check dams experimented on by the county, and in general work for the upbuilding of one of the most charming and delightful valleys in the whole west.

The agitation again under way concerning a change in name of the townsite, is but one of many instances of a similar nature during the past year.

It is of no great moment what particular name may be adopted, but the refusal of a few to abide by the decision of the many, and thus end agitation, is the main issue. Too much agitation will wreck any structure. Why not bury past differences, work hand in hand with Mr. Hartranft, and re-create a community whose progress has been brought to a standstill. Suppose you don't agree to the principle of check dams? Their construction gave employment to many here, and I am not aware that any one in Littlelands has given sufficient time and study to allow them to pose as an authority on the subject. Yet the Board of Trade sends a committee to Los Angeles to oppose Mr. Hartranft's plans and efforts, and if this "indoor sport" is to be indulged in frequently then for the good of the valley let the Board of Trade follow the example of Rip Van Winkle, or else take a vacation, say, of six months, twice a year!

We have seen a neighboring village through its "committees" and resolutions, petition itself out of a state highway, and now that the street railway company is about to extend its lines, no doubt this community, if it goes about it earnestly will, through petitions, appeals, resolutions and committees, prevent, or at least delay its coming. Were the Angel Gabriel to arrive in Littlelands tomorrow and announce the dawn of Resurrection day, some one would immediately begin arguing the question.

The writer is too busy improving his place and creating values to feel any particular animosity, but when the values created by hard work begin to depreciate through senseless, useless agitation, then it is time to protest.

Work for harmony, let it become a habit, and watch this beautiful valley develop as a result.

W. G. PAUL.

Mrs. Ben Clark's sister-in-law is a guest at the Clark home. Since coming here her little girl had the misfortune to fall and break her arm. The accident happened last Friday evening. The child fell from a ladder.

Mrs. Fuller visited last Friday and Saturday with her brother, Mr. Fitzgerald, near Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Burns and daughter of Erie, Pennsylvania, are the guests since Monday of last week of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mehard. This week both families will spend several days at Long Beach, returning the last of the week. Mrs. Burns is a sister of Mrs. Mehard.

Mr. and Mrs. Milman and daughter of Hollywood are spending their vacation in Littlelands. The Milmans own property here and are looking forward to the time when they may make their home here.

Friday Morning Round Table

Last week the Round Table was entertained by Mrs. Tinaberry and Miss Osgood on Mr. Tinaberry's pleasant piazza facing the beautiful scenery down the Vale of Monte Vista. Several short readings were given by Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Wieman, Miss Hatch and Mrs. Kearney, followed by roll call at which favorite quotations were given. After this the regular lesson with the usual discussion followed. A resolution endorsing the action of the town meeting with regard to the changing of the name of the town was read and adopted, but not unanimously, ten out of twenty-one voting in the negative.

During the luncheon hour and after, sweetest music was rendered by Mrs Linaberry's fine Victrola.

Today instead of the usual program there was a sunrise outing party at Old Tu Junga Homestead, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heffleman. The party expected to leave Littlelands at 4 o'clock this morning and after a hike over the trails of Mr. Heffleman's ranch to view the sunrise, return to the house, where breakfast will be served.

The next meeting will be held in the grove at the foot of Sunset boulevard near Mrs. Sheeler's place.

Captain Reel of Glendale, who is our local postman, invited several of our young lads to go with himself and Lieutenant Barto and a company of 15 of the Boys' Brigade of Glendale on a camping expedition to the Tejunga river. The company left here at about 10 o'clock Thursday morning of last week, returning Saturday evening. The boys report a most enjoyable outing, sleeping out-of-doors, fishing, tramping, hunting and other stunts familiar to campers. The thanks of our boys are due to Capt. Reel for his cordial invitation and his kind supervision of the camp during the outing. Joe Knight, Richard Frost and Alec Wilson are the lads from Littlelands who were of the party.

Mr. Taylor of Pasadena, who has been occupying the tent at Sunset and Michigan, has gone to Idaho to live. He came here because of his affliction with asthma and has entirely recovered after a sojourn of several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Woodrow of North Pine street have as their guests Mrs. J. H. Fitz of Santa Ana, mother of Mrs. Woodrow, and her aunt, Miss Ella M. Fowble of Los Angeles.

Stephen C. Packer Rally

Last Friday evening several auto loads of people from Glendale accompanied Mr. Stephen C. Packer to Littlelands to enlighten our people as to the virtues and ability of Mr. Packer and the desirability of electing him supervisor from this district. The crowd furnished considerable talent in the way of addresses, music and impersonation. The speakers of the evening were Hon. W. E. Evans, Mr. A. T. Cowan, publisher and owner of the Tri-City Progress, and Dr. Jessie A. Russell. Dr. Russell knew exactly what she wished to say and said it without mincing matters one bit.

Mrs. G. C. Cable made a hit with her audience with her reading and was heartily encored. Mrs. William Herman West sang several songs, graciously responding to two recalls. It is needless to say that her audience was more than pleased with her contribution to the program. H. E. Henning was the pianist of the evening and his rendition of several selections was well received.

Mr. Cowan and Mr. Evans made very plain their admiration and zeal for Mr. Packer. Mr. Packer does not claim any merits as a speaker but he gave his platform which sounded pretty good to his audience.

Altogether the evening's program was a good one and the audience was well entertained.

Board of Trade

It was reported at the Board of Trade meeting Monday night that the necessary action had been taken to get our new name before the proper authorities at Washington. It is too early as yet for any news from that source. The treasurer reported $35.43 in the treasury. A financial statement of the expenditures for the Fourth of July was made. The committee now has on hand permanent decorations costing in the neighborhood of $7.00. On motion it was decided to make the flag committee the custodians of the 4th of July decorations. The total expenses were $30.25 of which $24.25 was paid out of the receipts from the entertainment given at Bolton hall the evening of the Fourth. A motion prevailed to make up the deficit from the treasury.

Four new names were added to the list of members, Mr. Van Battum, Dr. Spates, Mr. Eckert and Mr. Bell. $155.00 will be available the first of January for the improvement of post roads provided the state raises a like amount. It was stated that the valuation of land in the valley has been increased $100 per acre. A post roads committee was appointed as follows: Dunn, Woodruff and B. Clark. A letter from the railroad authorities to the president of the Board of Trade was read. There seems to be some ground for hopes that the extension of the railroad will soon be made. It was alleged that the matter could surely be accomplished if the owners of land in the district would pay a bonus of not to exceed $20 per acre. A motion was carried to appoint a committee to take up the matter of extension of the railroad through the valley with the proper authorities. The committee is composed of C. H. Clark, W. B. Barkley, Fred M. Ashby and the president, P. J. Blake.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bee club takes place next Monday evening at Dean's Department store.

Town Meeting

The subject of a Harvest Home festival with a colony supper was brought up by the moderator, Mr. Fred M. Ashby, at the town meeting Tuesday evening. This matter should receive the immediate attention of the community as it is a community affair.

Jonathan S. Dodge of Pasadena, candidate for supervisor, accompanied by Judge Guy Crump and Edward D. Zeahner of South Pasadena and J. D. Cecil of La Canada, came before the people of Littlelands according to a previous announcement. Judge Crump gave a terse address, speaking of the life and history of Mr. Dodge. Mr. Dodge followed. He began by giving a good talk on the value of shade trees to any community and spoke of the trees indigenous to this country especially hereabouts—the oak, sycamore and the elder. Mr. Dodge said he might be interested in our Poultry club as he raises the largest birds in the country (he is president of the Cawston Ostrich farm). He spoke of the bounds of the 5th Supervisorial district as equaling the area of Connecticut. It extends from Main street, Los Angeles, to the Antelope valley. Mr. Dodge also spoke of the different departments over which the supervisors have jurisdiction. The audience realizes that the office is an important one and the incumbent should be selected with much carefulness. Mr. Dodge was a lawyer for ten years but Judge Crump said he ought to be forgiven that fact as he thought he had outlived the reputation and had made good since coming to California.

John T. Wilson will be heard at Bolton hall next Tuesday night. Another candidate for supervisor.

The Poultry club had a called meeting after the town meeting Tuesday night, to consider the adoption of the best measure for the purchase of chicken feed in large quantities as Mr. Green, our feed man, expects to go out of the business. Mr. Woodruff was appointed to confer with Mr. Shiras concerning this matter and another called meeting was scheduled for Wednesday night after the Federation confernce.

Miss Hannah F. McKee is at home from Pasadena and will be here perhaps for some time.

Racquet Club Box Social

There will be a box social at Bolton hall Saturday evening under the auspices of the Racquet culb. This is to be a leap year affair, the gentlemen to furnish the supper in boxes and the ladies are expected to purchase the same. Admission, ladies free, gentlemen 50c.

Chas. E. Jones, for many years publisher of the Ledger Gazette at Lancaster in the Antelope Valley, and his wife, have rented the Lamson cottage for the summer season. Mr. Jones has been a frequent visitor to the valley for many years, and is enthusiastic over its charms.

Mr. Frank E. Woodley, wife and daughter, of Hollywood, were guests at the Lazy Lonesome ranch over Sunday. Mr. Woodley is interested in the valley, and has been planning to buy a mountain ranch here.

Mr. Henry V. Brummel with his wife and two boys are up from Glendale, temporarily camping in the oaks on Greeley avenue. Mr. Brummel has been manager of the "Daily Fruit World" in Los Angeles for many years, and looks after travelers on our stage line at the Hotel Lillie. They like the valley very much, and are arranging to make permanent residence here.

The Racquet club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Catt last week. New officers were elected as follows: Frank Green, president; Mrs. J. W. Catt, vice-president; H. D. Kirschman, secretary-treasurer.
